Thank you for reading my eBook on The American Resistance Movement! This brief but informative guide will help the reader understand the philosophies and principles behind the concepts of leaderless resistance which is the basis from which A.R.M. was founded. Exposing corruption within our government and military while holding those accountable for their actions. B.A. Brooks

Many people think that I am the founder of The American Resistance Movement, and actually I believed that I had started this movement as well. Until one day about 6 months after I had began promoting and developing interest within the patriot community, I stumbled upon a one page website hosted on a free server like geocities with a statement and crude logo. The page was all about The American Resistance Movement. At that time I realized that there were others before me, and I now had to decide whether to stop and destroy all of my work, or to move on and forwards in order to try and build the movement. As you all know, I decided to move forward and never look back. Had the original logo redone and started networking with others in an attempt to bring others into our structure. A few years ago I was given the thumbs up by the actual originator and was told that everything I had done was within his expectations for the movement. So even though I did not found The American Resistance Movement, I had a large part in breathing life into it and bringing the movement where it is today. The American Resistance Movement gives people a way to peacefully organize in groups across America, and stand together to not only expose but confront the incredible amount of corruption and mismanagement within our government and military machines. We want a much smaller government and an end to many agencies such as The Federal Reserve, The CIA, and the IRS just to name a few. Through the sheer power of numbers we can invoke real change that would ensure that the people are still the rulers of our own country. Even though there are more unofficial members than official members, our numbers are growing everyday. We hold our members to the highest of standards and not only expect but demand that all A.R.M. members live their lives holding to the motto of "Live and give respect while always doing the right thing".

Mission Statement

A.R.M. Members come from every race, religion, gender, nationality, and political affiliation. The American Resistance Movement - (ARM) is comprised of American citizens in every City and State from coast to coast who dedicate much time monitoring all covert, secret and subversive government / military activity which might compromise America's National Security, The United States Constitution, and agencies like Homeland Security, The CIA, NSA, ATF, DOD and so on, then make all information available to the general public through national and independent news outlets. Leaderless Resistance is one of the key components behind The ARM's mission which enables the average American to make a difference individually by standing up to corrupt Local, State and National bodies of America's Political, Governmental and Military Bureaucracies without worry of any government or military infiltrators disrupting his or her individual activities. ARM activities include research, reconnaissance, communication, activism, survival training, weapons training, preparation, humanitarian work, and nature conservation. ARM Members come from every race, religion, gender, nationality, and political affiliation! Leaders do not create movements but Movements create leaders. ARM's goals are to Stop The NAU/SPP, Restore The Constitution Of The United States, Force All Illegal Aliens Out Of America, Secure Our Borders With Mexico And Canada, Protect The United States From Military Invaders, Monitor All U.S. Government And Military Activity, Help Change U.S./Foreign Policy, Bills And Current Laws, End The CIA, Homeland Security, The Federal Reserve, The IRS and many other departments within the government that we deem wasteful and not necessary. Even though we are committed to the forced evacuation of all illegal aliens, we care about all people in North America and have set up and put in place a program to help the unfortunate people of all three countries called C.A.M. - The North American Network. People helping people in their own individual countries of Canada, America, and Mexico. This is The U.A.F.F./ARM's own answer to The NAU/SPP otherwise known as The North American Union and/or The Security And Prosperity Partnership Of North America. UAFF/ARM Members are always expected to act with impeccable values and standards, never using violence instead of intelligence as a means to an end. - Hoorah!

Righteous Men & Women

A righteous man or woman does not initiate wars or initiate illegal acts especially "killing" and or "violence" to bring about change. A righteous person would only take up arms as a last resort in "self-defense" or in the defense of their family or neighbors. However.. our governing bodies and those in control of our Military often distort this principle as an excuse to invade any area of the world where something goes on but it usually turns out to be for financial gains by those in control of the military instead of the righteous reasons why our military should be dispatched in the first place. (The Afghan pipeline is a prime example of) Research the Revolutionary War And why it was fought, this will give you greater insight into how and when we will know that it is time to rise. If there comes a time when our Constitution is no longer valid and it is no longer legal to be free and or exercise freedoms as defined in our Bible, Constitution and Bill of Rights.. (Bible is optional based on your religious stance) This will mark the beginning of the end times for freedom as Americans know it. Many other countries are far ahead of the US on their roads to Tyranny.. Europe, Australia, China, and many others.. Free Men and Women will know when this is being taken from them and if and when there is an attempt to take it by 'force' .. this is the justification for individual and sovereign entity's right to self-defense. Now keep in mind that any intelligent individuals that happen to work for local and or federal Military and Law Enforcement agencies do and can understand these concepts but often are fed propaganda that tries to lump all patriots and or freedom loving peoples into a "radical" category and thus creates the "us vs. them" mentality that plagues our nation's law enforcement communities today. Law Enforcement individuals are fellow citizens too.. and so are our Military brothers and sisters who are being used and abused the worst right now through "unjust" wars and being sacrificed for financial and other unjust agendas by the global elites. Studies have shown that close to 50% or more of our Military and Law enforcers would not obey orders to unlawfully round up American Citizens and take away our Constitutional Rights. This is a big reason why the Global elites will most likely encourage more internal strife and disarray between racial, social, and economic classes along with the open invitation for foreign Troops to assist the US in the event of a National Catastrophe or Martial Law. It is a Classic "divide and conquer" Mentality. You will understand all of this as I have just by reading and researching in the continued quest for the truth. The Truth.. shall set us free.. just as Jesus pointed out that he is the Truth, the Light, the way. So.. try to educate those lost brothers who spread word of hate and violence out of frustration and or ignorance. If they will not reason or are not open minded then they should be considered one in the same as the enemy of a Patriot. As quickly as we would defend ourselves and families against illegal actions by any individual or government, we would as quickly defend our lawful governing individuals and governing body against those who are false patriots who in turn do more harm than good by bastardizing the Freedom and Patriot movement when they adhere to principles not supported by God or by righteous men and women.

How To Get Started?

I have given you all a means to organize with across America and the world. The U.A.F.F., C.A.M. and A.R.M.! It is very easy to start local chapters and to begin adding members in your area. I have always said that leaders do not create movements, but movements create leaders, so instead of looking to others for answers, each of you needs to step up and start making a difference yourselves. The key is organization! Unless we organize, all will be lost and time is growing short. I would be happy to once again share some steps to help you all get started.

#1. Make a decision to begin making a difference yourself, in the real world as well as the internet. We have all done as much as we can on the internet and now is the time to meet up and connect with others in the real world.

#2. Start an official chapter in your area! Go here:
www.cafepress.com/uaffstore

#3. Make an official web page or website for your group. You can host a website for as low as $5 a month and there are many free services out there like www.MySpace.com and www.YouTube.com that you can utilize if you have no funds. www.Meetup.com is also another great source for finding your new members.

#4. Start recruiting new members and holding weekly meetings for training and information exchange.

#5. Connect with other chapters and organizations in your area and across America.

This is a great way to get started and I hope this information will help you all. Got to organize in the real world or all will be lost. We are not living out Revelations! This is just another dark time in the history of our world, and with all of your help, Evil will not prevail! Step up now and start making a difference. You can always email me at: bertbrooks@usa.com and I will assist you any way I can. Go here <http://www.cafepress.com/uaffstore> to officially join and start your group. LEADERLESS RESISTANCE

The concept of Leaderless Resistance was proposed by Col. Ulius Louis Amoss, who was the founder of International Service of Information Incorporated, located in Baltimore, Maryland. Col. Amoss died more than fifteen years ago, but during his life was a tireless opponent of communism, as well as a skilled Intelligence Officer. Col. Amoss first wrote of Leaderless Resistance on April 17, 1962. His theories of organization were primarily directed against the threat of eventual Communist take-over in the United States. The present writer, with the benefit of having lived many years beyond Col. Amoss, has taken his theories and expounded upon them. Col. Amoss feared the Communists. This author fears the federal government. Communism now represents a threat to no one in the United States, while federal tyranny represents a threat to everyone. The writer has joyfully lived long enough to see the dying breaths of communism, but may, unhappily, remain long enough to see the last grasps of freedom in America.

In the hope that, somehow, America can still produce the brave sons and daughters necessary to fight off ever increasing persecution and oppression, this essay is offered. Frankly, it is too close to call at this point. Those who love liberty, and believe in freedom enough to fight for it are rare today, but within the bosom of every once great nation, there remains secreted, the pearls of former greatness. They are there. I have looked into their sparking eyes; sharing a brief moment in time with them as I passed through this life. Relished their friendship, endured their pain, and they mine. We are a band of brothers, native to the soil gaining strength one from another as we have rushed head long into a battle that all the weaker, timid men, say we can not win. Perhaps.. but then again, perhaps we can. It's not over till the last freedom fighter is buried or imprisoned, or the same happens to those who would destroy their freedom.

Barring any cataclysmic events, the struggle will yet go on for years. The passage of time will make it clear to even the more slow among us that the government is the foremost threat to the life, and liberty of the folk. The government will no doubt make today's oppressiveness look like grade school work compared to what they have planned in the future. Meanwhile, there are those of us who continue to hope that somehow the few can do what the many have not. We are cognizant that before things get better they will certainly get worse as government shows a willingness to use ever more severe police state measures against dissidents. This changing situation makes it clear that those who oppose state repression must be prepared to alter, adapt, and modify their behavior, strategy, and tactics as circumstances warrant. Failure to consider new methods and implement them as necessary will make the government's efforts at suppression uncomplicated. It is the duty of every patriot to make the tyrant's life miserable. When one fails to do so he not only fails himself, but his people.

With this in mind, current methods of resistance to tyranny employed by those who love our race, culture, and heritage must pass a litmus test of soundness. Methods must be objectively measured as to their effectiveness, as well as to whether they make the government's intention of repression more possible or more difficult. Those not working to aid our objectives must be discarded or the government benefits from our failure to do so.

As honest men who have banded together into groups or associations of a political or religious nature are falsely labeled "domestic terrorists" or "cultists" and suppressed, it will become necessary to consider other methods of organization--or as the case may very well call for: non-organization. One should keep in mind that it is not in the government's interest to eliminate all groups. Some few must remain in order to perpetuate the smoke and mirrors vision for the masses that America is a "free democratic country" where dissent is allowed. Most organizations, however, that possess the potential for effective resistance will not be allowed to continue. Anyone who is so naive as to believe the most powerful government on earth will not crush any who pose a real threat to that power, should not be active, but rather, at home studying political history.

The question as to who is to be left alone and who is not, will be answered by how groups and individuals deal with several factors such as: avoidance of conspiracy plots, rejection of feeble minded malcontents, insistence upon quality of the participants, avoidance of all contact with the front men for the federals--the news media--and, finally, camouflage (which can be defined as the ability to blend in the public's eye the more committed groups of resistance with mainstream kosher associations that are generally seen as harmless.) Primarily though, whether any organization is allowed to continue in the future will be a matter of how big a threat a group represents. Not a threat in terms of armed might or political ability, for there is none of either for the present, but rather, threat in terms of potentiality. It is potential the federals fear most. Whether that potential exists in an individual or group is incidental. The federals measure potential threat in terms of what might happen given a situation conducive to action on the part of a restive organization or individual. Accurate intelligence gathering allows them to assess the potential. Showing one's hand before the bets are made, is a sure way to loose.

The movement for freedom is rapidly approaching the point where for many people, the option of belonging to a group will be nonexistent. For others, group membership will be a viable option for only the immediate future. Eventually, and perhaps much sooner than most believe possible, the price paid for membership will exceed any perceived benefit. But for now, some of the groups that do exist often serve a useful purpose either for the newcomer who can be indoctrinated into the ideology of the struggle, or for generating positive propaganda to reach potential freedom fighters. It is sure that, for the most part, this struggle is rapidly becoming a matter of individual action, each of its participants making a private decision in the quietness of his heart to resist: to resist by any means necessary. It is hard to know what others will do, for no man truly knows another man's heart. It is enough to know what one himself will do. A great teacher once said know thyself. Few men really do, but let each of us, promise ourselves, not to go quietly to the fate our would-be masters have planned.

The concept of Leaderless Resistance is nothing less than a fundamental departure in theories of organization. The orthodox scheme of organization is diagrammatically represented by the pyramid, with the mass at the bottom and the leader at the top. This fundamental of organization is to be seen not only in armies, which are of course, the best illustration of the pyramid structure, with the mass of soldiery, the privates, at the bottom responsible to corporals who are in turn responsible to sergeants, and so on up the entire chain of command to the generals at the top. But the same structure is seen in corporations, ladies' garden clubs and in our political system itself. This orthodox pyramid scheme of organization is to be seen basically in all existing political, social and religious structures in the world today from the Federal government to the Roman Catholic Church. The Constitution of the United States, in the wisdom of the Founders, tried to sublimate the essential dictatorial nature of pyramidal organization by dividing authority into three: executive, legislative and judicial. But the pyramid remains essentially untouched.

This scheme of organization, the pyramid, is however, not only useless, but extremely dangerous for the participants when it is utilized in a resistance movement against state tyranny. Especially is this so in technologically advanced societies where electronic surveillance can often penetrate the structure revealing its chain of command. Experience has revealed over and over again that anti-state, political organizations utilizing this method of command and control are easy prey for government infiltration, entrapment, and destruction of the personnel involved. This has been seen repeatedly in the United States where pro-government infiltrators or agent provocateurs weasel their way into patriotic groups and destroy them from within.

In the pyramid type of organization, an infiltrator can destroy anything which is beneath his level of infiltration and often those above him as well. If the traitor has infiltrated at the top, then the entire organization from the top down is compromised and may be traduced at will.

An alternative to the pyramid type of organization is the cell system. In the past, many political groups (both right and left) have used the cell system to further their objectives. Two examples will suffice. During the American Revolution committees of correspondence were formed throughout the Thirteen colonies. Their purpose was to subvert the government and thereby aid the cause of independence. The Sons of Liberty, who made a name for themselves dumping government taxed tea into the harbor at Boston, were the action arm of the committees of correspondence. Each committee was a secret cell that operated totally independently of the other cells. Information on the government was passed from committee to committee, from colony to colony, and then acted upon on a local basis. Yet even in these bygone days of poor communication, of weeks to months for a letter to be delivered, the committees without any central direction whatsoever, were remarkable similar in tactics employed to resist government tyranny. It was, as the first American patriots knew, totally unnecessary for anyone to give an order for anything. Information was made available to each committee, and each committee acted as it saw fit. A recent example of the cell system taken from the left wing of politics are the Communists. The Communist, in order to get around the obvious problems involved in pyramidal organization, developed to an art the cell system. They had numerous independent cells which operated completely isolated from one another and particularly with no knowledge of each other, but were orchestrated together by a central headquarters. For instance, during World War II, in Washington, it is known that there were at least six secret Communist cells operating at high levels in the United States government (plus all the open Communists who were protected and promoted by President Roosevelt), however, only one of the cells was rooted out and destroyed. How many more actually were operating no one can say for sure.

The Communist cells which operated in the U.S until late 1991 under Soviet control could have at their command a leader, who held a social position which appeared to be very lowly. He could be, for example, a busboy in a restaurant, but in reality a colonel or a general in the Soviet Secret Service, the KGB. Under him could be a number of cells and a person active in one cell would almost never have knowledge of individuals who are active in another cell. The value of this is that while any one cell can be infiltrated, exposed or destroyed, such action will have no effect on the other cells; in fact, the members of the other cells will be supporting that cell which is under attack and ordinarily would lend very strong support to it in many ways. This is at least part of the reason, no doubt, that whenever in the past Communists were attacked in this country, support for them sprang up in many unexpected places.

The efficient and effective operation of a cell system after the Communist model, is of course, dependent upon central direction, which means impressive organization, funding from the top, and outside support, all of which the Communists had. Obviously, American patriots have none of these things at the top or anywhere else, and so an effective cell organization based upon the Soviet system of operation is impossible.

Two things become clear from the above discussion. First, that the pyramid type of organization can be penetrated quite easily and it thus is not a sound method of organization in situations where the government has the resources and desire to penetrate the structure; which is the situation in this country. Secondly, that the normal qualifications for the cell structure based upon the Red model does not exist in the U.S. for patriots. This understood, the question arises "What method is left for those resisting state tyranny?" The answer comes from Col. Amoss who proposed the "Phantom Cell" mode of organization. Which he described as Leaderless Resistance. A system of organization that is based upon the cell organization, but does not have any central control or direction, that is in fact almost identical to the methods used by the Committees of Correspondence during the American Revolution. Utilizing the Leaderless Resistance concept, all individuals and groups operate independently of each other, and never report to a central headquarters or single leader for direction or instruction, as would those who belong to a typical pyramid organization.

At first glance, such a type of organization seems unrealistic, primarily because there appears to be no organization. The natural question thus arises as to how are the "Phantom cells" and individuals to cooperate with each other when there is no intercommunication or central direction? The answer to this question is that participants in a program of Leaderless Resistance through phantom cell or individual action must know exactly what they are doing, and how to do it. It becomes the responsibility of the individual to acquire the necessary skills and information as to what is to be done. This is by no means as impractical as it appears, because it is certainly true that in any movement, all persons involved have the same general outlook, are acquainted with the same philosophy, and generally react to given situations in similar ways. The previous history of the committees of correspondence during the American Revolution show this to be true.

Since the entire purpose of Leaderless Resistance is to defeat state tyranny (at least insofar as this essay is concerned), all members of phantom cells or individuals will tend to react to objective events in the same way through usual tactics of resistance. Organs of information distribution such as newspapers, leaflets, computers, etc., which are widely available to all, keep each person informed of events, allowing for a planned response that will take many variations. No one need issue an order to anyone. Those idealist truly committed to the cause of freedom will act when they feel the time is ripe, or will take their cue from others who precede them. While it is true that much could be said against this type of structure as a method of resistance, it must be kept in mind that Leaderless Resistance is a child of necessity. The alternatives to it have been show to be unworkable or impractical. Leaderless Resistance has worked before in the American Revolution, and if the truly committed put it to use for themselves, it will work now.

It goes almost without saying that Leaderless Resistance leads to very small or even one man cells of resistance. Those who join organizations to play "let's pretend" or who are "groupies" will quickly be weeded out. While for those who are serious about their opposition to federal despotism, this is exactly what is desired.

From the point of view of tyrants and would be potentates in the federal bureaucracy and police agencies, nothing is more desirable than that those who oppose them be UNIFIED in their command structure, and that every person who opposes them belong to a pyramid type group. Such groups and organizations are an easy kill. Especially in light of the fact that the Justice (sic) Department promised in 1987 that there would never be another group that opposed them that they did not have at least one informer in. These federal "friends of government" are intelligence agents. They gather information that can be used at the whim of a federal D.A. to prosecute. The line of battle has been drawn. Patriots are required therefore, to make a conscious decision to either aid the government in its illegal spying, by continuing with old methods of organization and resistance, or to make the enemies job more difficult by implementing effective countermeasures.

Now there will, no doubt, be mentally handicapped people out there who, while standing at a podium with an American flag draped in the background, and a lone eagle soaring in the sky above, will state emphatically in their best sounding red, white, and blue voice, So what if the government is spying? We are not violating any laws. Such crippled thinking by any serious person is the best example that there is a need for special education classes. The person making such a statement is totally out of contact with political reality in this country, and unfit for leadership of any thing more than a dog sleigh in the Alaskan wilderness. The old Born on the fourth of July mentality that has influenced so much of the American patriot's thinking in the past will not save him from the government in the future. Reeducation for non-thinkers of this type will take place in the federal prison system where there are no flags or eagles, but abundance of men who were not violating any law.

Most groups who unify their disparate associates into a single structure have short political lives. Therefore, those movement leaders constantly calling for unity of organization rather than the desirable unity of purpose, usually fall into one of three categories.

They may not be sound political tacticians, but rather, just committed men who feel unity would help their cause, while not realizing that the government would greatly benefit from such efforts. The Federal objective, to imprison or destroy all who oppose them, is made easier in pyramid organizations. Or perhaps, they do not fully understand the struggle they are involved in and that the government they oppose has declared a state of war against those fighting for faith, folk, freedom and constitutional liberty. Those in power will use any means to rid themselves of opposition. The third class calling for unity and let us hope this is the minority of the three, are men more desirous of the supposed power that a large organization would bestow, than of actually achieving their stated purpose.

Conversely, the last thing Federal snoops would have, if they had any choice in the matter, is a thousand different small phantom cells opposing them. It is easy to see why. Such a situation is an intelligence nightmare for a government intent upon knowing everything they possibly can about those who oppose them. The Federals, able to amass overwhelming strength of numbers, manpower, resources, intelligence gathering, and capability at any given time, need only a focal point to direct their anger. A single penetration of a pyramid type of organization can lead to the destruction of the whole. Whereas, Leaderless Resistance presents no single opportunity for the Federals to destroy a significant portion of the Resistance.

With the announcement by the Department of Justice (sic) that 300 FBI agents formerly assigned to watching Soviet spies in the US (domestic counter intelligence) are now to be used to combat crime, the federal government is preparing the way for a major assault upon those persons opposed to their policies. Many anti-government groups dedicated to the preservation of the America of our forefathers can expect shortly to feel the brunt of a new federal assault upon liberty.

It is clear, therefore, that it is time to rethink traditional strategy and tactics when it comes to opposing a modern police state. America is quickly moving into a long dark night of police state tyranny, where the rights now accepted by most as being inalienable will disappear. Let the coming night be filled with a thousand points of resistance. Like the fog which forms when conditions are right and disappears when they are not, so must the resistance to tyranny be.

If every person has the right to defend--even by force--his person, his liberty, and his property, then it follows that a group of men have the right to organize and support a common force to protect these rights constantly. ---The Law. Frederick Bastiat Paris, 1850.

In Closing

Remember, Don't battle the government with guns.
Beat them in court, and in your state legislature!

Organize and come together as one people to ensure that our constitution is restored and our borders are secured. Form and/or join local Militia in your area. Hide your unregistered weapons and ammo so that if martial law is enforced, they can not be confiscated. Remember that many active U.S. police and military members are also U.A.F.F./A.R.M. Members and will join us if civil unrest is our only option. The bottom line is we must be organized. Leaders do not create movements, movements create leaders. Never fear death but never welcome it either.
